

Climate Action Day Shape the Future

Climate change has severe impact on people and nature in many parts of the world. Droughts and floods destroy fields and harvests, diseases are spreading. We need to take strong action on climate protection to minimize the impact of climate change. At the beginning of December the next UN Climate Change Conference will take place. Let us show on the 7th of December 2013 that we young people care for climate protection and the environment.

On the first Youth Action Day in December 2012 young people in Indonesia, Rwanda, Congo, Cameroon, Botswana, Colombia, Germany promoted renewable energy, celebrated a climate concert, planted trees etc.

Find like-minded people in your area: friends at school, university, work, in your faith community etc. and start your own action, e.g. saving water, eco-farming, recycling initiatives. Tell us about your favourite action ideas on Facebook where you can meet other young people from Asia, Africa, Europe and America. On our homepage and on Facebook you will find more inspiration and good-practice examples.

Let us show that another world is possible.
Let us start to shape our future.
